Neke od njih su: Lastovski statut iz 1310. godine, "Lastovski poklad" – karneval stariji više od 500 godina koji je proglašen hrvatskim kulturnim nematerijalnim dobjem, te mnogobrojne crkve, od kojih je najstarija sačuvana crkvica sv. Luke iz 11.st. Možemo se pohvaliti i s ostacima starokršćanske bazilike u Ubliма iz 6.st. koja svjedoči o davnoj naseljenosti tog mjesta.

Osim prirodnog i kulturnog bogatstva, očekuje vas i raznolika gastronomска ponuda – od srdjela na ražnu, čumula, brodetu, i "lonza" do krokanta i biškota, a sve to uz čašu domaćeg vina i rakije. # ABOUT LASTOVO

Lastovo was first mentioned in written sources by the lexicographer Stephen the Byzantine. Theopompus (4th Century BC) referred to it as Ladesta or Ladeston, while the "est" suffix – typical for the names of Illyrian settlements on the Adriatic coast – suggest that it may have been named by the ancient Illyrians. A Greek variant of the name of its inhabitants – Ladestanos – reveals that the Dorians also inhabited the island in the past. The name was then latinised by the Romans who named it Augusta Insula, the Emperor's Island. In the Middle Ages, it was known as Augusta Lagusta and Lagosta. The modern term incorporates the Roman form "Lasta", coupled with Slavic suffix, "-ovo". The earliest traces of life were found in the cave Rača, so continuity of inhabitance can be followed from the Bronze age. The island was inhabited by the Slavs and Narentines in the 7th and 8th century, and they soon became strong enough to represent the threat to the safety of Venetian fleet. Because of that, Doge Peter Orseolo II conquered the island in 998, and ruined its settlements. The survivors moved to the new location, founding the new settlement in the place of today's main village Lastovo.

Lastovo's turbulent history is further evident from its frequent change of rulers and governors. It was controlled by the medieval state of Zahumlje in 11th and 12th century, and by the end of 12th century it was ruled by Hungarian-Croatian kingdom. In 13th century, it was once again shortly controlled by Zahumlje, and in the year 1252 it became a part of Republic of Dubrovnik. In 1310, Lastovo gained autonomy and their own Statute.

Being unsatisfied with the governing officials from Dubrovnik, people of Lastovo rebelled in a numerous occasions during 16th and 17th century.

The French took over in 19th century, followed by Britons and then Austrians until 1918. As stated in the Treaty of Rapallo, Lastovo was then assigned to Italy and was to remain under the Italian rule until 1943. Since 1945, the island was a part of The Socialist Republic of Yugoslavia and, like the island of Vis, it was an assigned military area – the island is full of abandoned army structures - and it was closed for the foreign citizens until 1988. After Croatia proclaimed independence, Lastovo began its touristic development.

On the September 29th 2006, Croatian parliament proclaimed LASTOVO ISLANDS NATURE PARK.

"LASTOVO"

U pisanim tragovima prvi ga put spominje leksikograf Stjepan Bizantinac. Teopomp (iz 4.st. P.n.e.) ga naziva Ladesta i Ladeston, dok sufiks –est (karakterističan za ilirska mjesta na jadranskoj obali) daje naznaku da su mu ime nadjenuli stari Iliri. Grčka inačica imena stanovnika otoka – Ladestanos dokazuje da su na Lastovu živjeli Dorani.

Rimljani ga latiniziraju, te ga nazivaju Augusta Insula (Carski otok). Za srednji vijek vežu se oblici Augusta Lagusta i Lagosta. Današnji naziv veže se preko romanskog oblika Lasta uz dodan slavenski sufiks –ovo.

ZNAMENITOSTI

Najstariji tragovi života otkriveni su u Račoj špilji, te se kontinuitet života može pratiti od ranog brončanog doba. Slaveni i Neretljani naseljavaju ga već u 7. i 8. stoljeću, a uskoro su se toliko učvrstili i ojačali da su smetali sigurnosti mletačke plovidbe. Zato dužd Petar Orseolo II. osvaja otok i 998. potpuno uništava njegovo naselje. Preživjeli stanovnici sele na novu lokaciju, današnje mjesto Lastovo.

Lastovska povijest je burna, što je vidljivo iz čestog mijenjanja gospodara. U 11. i 12. stoljeću je pod Zahumljem. Na kraju 12. st. preuzimaju ga ugarsko-hrvatski kraljevi. U 13. st. je opet pod Zahumljem. Godine 1252. ulazi u sastav Dubrovačke Republike koja mu 1310. odobrava komunalnu autonomiju i statut. Povod čestih buna seljaka u 16. i 17. st. nezadovoljstvo je postupcima dubrovačke vlastele.

U 19.st. Lastovo se nalazi pod Francuzima, pa Englezima i na kraju Austrijom, pod kojom će ostati do 1918. godine.

Rapalski ugovor dodijelio je Lastovo Italiji pa će novi gospodari vladati do 1943. godine. Nakon toga je Lastovo bilo pripojeno Jugoslaviji, a doživjelo je istu sudbinu kao i otok Vis – postalo je otok rezerviran za vojsku o čemu svjedoče brojni napušteni vojni objekti, a do 1988. godine na otok je bilo zabranjeno pristupati stranim državljanima. S proglašenjem Republike Hrvatske 1991. godine, Lastovo se razvija i turistički.

Hrvatski sabor je 29. rujna 2006. godine proglašio PARK PRIRODE "LASTOVSKO OTOČJE".

THE CHIMNEYS OF LASTOVO

As characteristic and unique architectural element - the most date from 17th and 18th century – Lastovo's chimneys are unusual and interesting. Competing with their neighbours, people of Lastovo tried to make an outstanding new chimney, which resulted with a huge variety of inventive and original solutions. Decorations were often eccentric and variegated, ranging from classical cones to animal horns, sometimes being a spell or mocking.

THE DUKE'S PALACE

The Duke's Palace oversees the main village of Lastovo from the eye-catching location above the main church. It was once the residing place of the Duke of Dubrovnik and was first mentioned in Dubrovnik's archives dating back to the 14th century. In the 19th century, it was almost completely demolished to create the neo-Renaissance residence of the Grbin-Fantela family. Some of the rooms and features of the original construction still exist within the current neo-Renaissance reconstruction. The Duke's Palace is open for visitors to explore the rich inventory of invaluable furniture and original features including the ceiling and wall frescos.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

St. Luke's is the oldest preserved church in Lastovo. It was built in 11th century by the old road that connects the two of the largest settlements on the island, Lastovo and Ubli. The church has all the characteristics of preromanesque sacral buildings, representing an important monument of cultural heritage. The archipelago of Lastovo has 46 churches, 46 fields and 46 islands and islets.

LASTOVSKI FUMAR

Karakterističan je i jedinstven arhitektonski izričaj 17. i 18. stoljeća, neobična i zanimljiva izgleda. U međusobnom natjecanju samih Lastovaca da im dimnjak ispadne što bolji od onog drugog, svaki novi fumar bio je sve neobičniji i orginalniji. Ukrasi su neobični i šaroliki, od običnih kupa kanalica do životinjskih rogova kao urok zlim očima ili poruga susjedu.

KNEŽEV DVOR - PALAC

Knežev dvor-Palac izgrađen je na istaknutom mjestu, iznad mjesta Lastova, te je služio kao rezidencija dubrovačkog namjesnika kneza. Prvi se put spominje u dubrovačkim dokumentima iz 14. stoljeća, a srušen je u 19. stoljeću da bi se sagradila neorenesansna rezidencija obitelji Grbin – Fantela. Dio današnje neorenesansne rezidencije stari je Knežev dvor. Knežev dvor – Palac otvoren je za posjetitelje, a tamo možete vidjeti bogat sačuvani inventar s vrijednim primjercima namještaja te originalnim zidnim i stropnim freskama.

SV. LUKA

Sv. Luka je najstarija očuvana crkvica na otoku Lastovu sagrađena u 11. stoljeću uz stari put koji povezuje dva najveća naseljena mjesta otoka – Lastovo i Ubli. Crkvica ima sve karakteristike predromaničkih sakralnih objekata i kao takva predstavlja značajni spomenik kulturne baštine.

THE POKLAD (CARNIVAL) OF LASTOVO – THE TRADITION OLDER THAN 500 YEARS

Lastovo's Poklad is one of the oldest carnival traditions in not only Croatia, but in all of Europe. The origins of the carnival derive from a celebration of a miraculous victory. Legend has it that Catalonians were attacking Korčula when they sent out one of their men to Lastovo to give the islanders a warning and an ultimatum. The messenger told the islanders to either give themselves up without a fight or suffer the consequences. Unwilling to give in, the people of Lastovo turned to God for help and prayed for mercy. Astonishingly enough, their prayers were answered through the form of a powerful storm which destroyed all of the Catalonian ships. The Lastovians then captured the Catalonian messenger and decided to make a fool of him, parading him through the village on a donkey and then had him lowered on a rope tied between the top and lower centre of the village to celebrate their victory.

The festivities tied to the carnival begin on the January 17th, on the feast day of Saint Anthony the Great and ends with the climactic re-enactment of the events on Ash Wednesday. Every year, Lastovians from all over the island proudly participate and support the celebrations and traditions associated with the centuries-old carnival and therein, continue to raise awareness of its uniqueness that sets the island of Lastovo apart from all others.

On the January 17th 2008, Croatia's Ministry of Culture proclaimed the Poklad Carnival as an intangible cultural asset and therefore, its integrity is protected by Croatia.

LASTOVSKI POKLAD. TRADICIJA STARA VIŠE OD POLA TISUĆLJEĆA.

Lastovski Poklad jedan je od najstarijih pokladnih običaja u Hrvatskoj, ali i u Europi. Legenda kaže da je nastao u spomen na događaj kada su Katalonci napali Korčulu istovremeno poslavši glasnika na Lastovo s porukom da se tamošnji narod preda bez borbe. Umjesto toga, mještani su se naoružali i molili Svevišnjeg za pomoć koja je ubrzo došla u obliku oluje i uništila katalonske brodove. Glasnika su zatim uhitali, za sramotu ga poslali na magarcu kroz selo te ga tri puta spustili niz konop.

Manifestacija započinje 17. siječnja, na blagdan sv. Antuna, a završava na Čistu srijedu. Običaj je to u kojem ponosno sudjeluje cijela zajednica otoka Lastova i koji iz godine u godinu svojom širokom paletom događaja jača stoljetnu svijest o posebnosti i neovisnosti otoka.

17. siječnja 2008. godine Ministarstvo kulture Republike Hrvatske proglašilo je Lastovski Poklad nematerijalnim kulturnim dobrom i stavilo ga pod svoju zaštitu.

TRADITIONAL COSTUME

Traditional costume of Lastovo is both sophisticated and playful, showing a complex history of an island. Dominant colors in the elegant women-variant are blue and red, adorned with gold. Occasionally, it is still used today, sometimes even as a wedding-dress. Male-variant of traditional wardrobe is much simpler, and Poklad's uniform is characterized by richly decorated hat and it has, besides saber, a gun belt. Every family on the island owns and caringly keeps Poklad's clothing to this day, to participate in local celebrations.

LASTOVSKA NOŠNJA

Lastovska nošnja istovremeno je profinjena i razigrana, a u njoj se čita kompleksna povijest otoka. Dominantne boje elegantne ženske nošnje su plava i crvena, a ukrasi su zlatni. Danas se nosi prigodice, povremeno i kao vjenčanica. Muška narodna nošnja u povijesti bila je znatno jednostavnija, a Pokladarsku uniformu karakteriziraju vrpcama, nakitom i cvijećem bogato ukrašeni šešir te, uz sablju, pojase za oružje. Svaka obitelj na otoku i danas posjeduje te brižno održava pokladarske odore za sudjelovanje u lokalnim svečanostima.

NATURE PARK "LASTOVO ISLANDS"

Croatian Parliament proclaimed the archipelago of Lastovo to be 11th Nature park in Croatia on September 29th 2006.

ETHNOGRAPHIC COLLECTION

Adjacent to the Duke's palace in Lastovo is a small church od St. John the Baptist, where altar painting of the saint from 1515 used to be. It was used for liturgical services for years, prior to being desacralized in 1864 when it was converted to a wine cellar. Today, the church is being restored with its original Romanesque and Gothic characteristics. It also features an ethnographic collection of diverse objects pertaining to Lastovo's rich history.

LASTOVO STATUTE

More than 700 years ago, on the 10th January of 1310, the public assembly adopted Lastovo Statute, the book of rules and stipulations of the assembly and municipality of Lastovo. The book begins with an oath made by Dubrovnik officials to respect all the ancient customs of the island's inhabitants, who voluntary committed to Dubrovnik Republic. Thirty stipulations, the initial form of the Statute adopted in that year, clearly describe working and social relations within the island community.

ST. PETER'S BASILICA

The Basilica of Saint Peter is of E-W orientation, being 17,00 meters in length and 6,75 meters in width. The walls, constructed of rough stones and plaster, feature a semi-circle apsis with buttresses on the outside. Inside, by the wall, there was a painted wooden bench. The sanctuary was enclosed by thin marble plates, inserted into grooves of slender stone colonette which is only partially preserved. In the stone residue of the entrance door, the bas-relief with trigonous ending was found, and it is kept in the Archaeological Museum in Zadar.

ETNOGRAFSKA ZBIRKA

U crkvici Sv. Ivana Krstitelja koja je nekoć služila kao kapela lastovskog kneza uz čiji se dvor nalazi, nekada je bila i oltarska slika Sv. Ivana Krstitelja iz 1515. godine. Dugi niz godina služila je u bogoslovne svrhe, ali joj je 1864. godine skinuta posveta i pretvorena je u stranjski podrum za potrebe prerade i skladištenja vina. Danas je crkva restaurirana i nosi romaničko-gotičke stilske karakteristike u skladu sa vremenom gradnje. U crkvi se nalazi i etnografska zbirka uporabnih predmeta iz bogate lastovske povijesti.

LASTOVSKI STATUT

Prije sedam stotina godina, na javnom zboru u Lastovu, 10. siječnja 1310. godine donesen je "Lastovski statut" koji predstavlja knjigu uredbi i običaja skupštine i općine otoka Lastova. Knjiga započinje zakletvom dubrovačke komune da će poštivati sve drevne običaje otočana koji su se dragovoljno predali komuni grada Dubrovnika. Skup od 30 odredbi koje je sadržavao prvi oblik Statuta donesen te godine, jasno opisuje radne i društvene odnose unutar otočne zajednice. Više informacija potražite na našoj web-stranici.

BAZILIKA SV. PETRA

Bazilika duga 17 m, a široka 7,75 m orientirana je u smjeru istok-zapad. Zidana je u neobrađenom kamenu sa žbukom. Imala je polukružnu apsidu izvana učvršćenu kontraforima. Iznutra je, uza zid, imala oslikanu kamenu klupu. Svetište je bilo ogradieno tankim mramornim pločama, udjenutim u utore vitkih kamenih stupića, sačuvanih samo u ulomcima. Između kamenih ostataka ulaznih vrata pronađen je plitki reljef s trokutastim završetkom, koji se čuva u Arheološkom muzeju u Zadru.
